Introduction

In July 1999, the Board of Regents adopted revisions to Part 100 of the Commissioner’s Regulations which require districts to provide Academic Intervention Services to students scoring below the state designated performance level on state assessments and/or who may be at risk of not achieving the New York State learning standards.

Academic Intervention Services (AIS) (C.R.R.100.1g) are services designed to assist students to achieve the New York State learning standards in English/Language Arts and mathematics in grades K-12, and science in grades 4-12. These services are provided to students as follows:

- Additional instruction that supplements the regular classroom instruction and/or
- Student support services needed to improve academic performance

Eligibility for Academic Intervention Services/Response to Intervention:
Commissioner’s Regulations 100.2 (ee) (1), (2), and (3); and 100.2(ee)(7) and 100.2(ii)

Students eligible for AIS or RtI, including those with disabilities and/or limited English proficiency, are:

- those who score below the designated performance levels on elementary, intermediate, and commencement-level State assessments in English language arts, mathematics, and science; and the AIMSweb benchmark assessments in grades K-6
- those at risk of not meeting State standards as indicated through the district-adopted or district-approved procedure, including those K-3 students who lack reading readiness; and
- LEP/ELL students who do not achieve the annual designated CR Part 154 performance standards as stipulated in the evaluation design of the CR Part 154 application packets.

The intensity of such support may vary, but must be designated to respond to students’ needs as indicated through State assessment results and/or the district-approved procedure identified for each grade level.

In accordance with state guidelines, a district plan has been created that establishes the Academic Intervention and Response to Intervention Services available to students as outlined by grade level in district plan are:

As determined by the building professionals, additional Academic Intervention and Response to Intervention Services may be provided to any student individually or in small groups. These additional services may include, but are not limited to:

- Physiological services
- Nursing services
- Counseling services
- Social Work services
- Support with attendance issues

Students may receive one or a combination of the services outlined. In each situation, student progress is monitored. This information will be tracked as students move from one level to the next. Throughout this process, the schools will regularly communicate with parents.
